

Testimonials

Comments from middle school teachers across the U.S.

Renee, in Maryland: "I like the ready-made lessons for the smartboard. Easy to incorporate technology into the lessons."

Jennifer, in North Carolina: "The materials that are included with the program make the program ready to use."

Jim, in Missouri: "Yes, for the 7th graders, the material was spot on with their understanding and comprehension levels. (asked if materials were grade-level appropriate)"

Carey, in Colorado: "I appreciate most the brain research to share with students about why they are prone to poor decisions as teens."

Patricia, in California: "Yes, students had little difficulty with the tasks." (asked if materials were grade-level appropriate)

Amanda, in Mississippi: "Yes, this is the time when they (students) have the most peer pressure." (asked if materials were grade-level appropriate)

Annallie, in Texas: "Yes, because it shows them (students) the effects and the problems associated with tobacco." (asked if materials were grade-level appropriate)

Carlos, in Wisconsin: "Easy to teach and learn."

Donald, in Maryland: "I do feel that they (Right Decisions Right Now materials) are grade level appropriate. The materials are at a reading level that the lower kids can understand but the more advanced readers do not get bored. I think it is the perfect balance."
